
COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM

May 22, 2021

These Commencement proceedings are a celebration of the achievements of our students, faculty, and honorees—as well as a show of appreciation to the loved ones who have supported those achievements.

YORK COLLEGE OF PENNSYLVANIA

York College of Pennsylvania is an independent, comprehensive, private college offering majors in the arts and sciences as well as professionally oriented programs of study. York is nationally recognized for its high-quality academic programs, friendly campus atmosphere, and affordable cost. Emphasis is placed upon a superior teaching faculty, the majority of whom hold doctorates. More than four thousand undergraduate students and three hundred graduate students represent some thirty-two states and thirty-six foreign countries. York offers over seventy undergraduate majors in the arts and sciences and in professional fields as well as master's programs in business, music, communication, public policy, education and nursing and a doctoral program in nursing.

The history of York College is long and varied. In 1787, the York Academy was formed. It merged in 1929 with the York Collegiate Institute, which was founded in 1873. The York Collegiate Institute became York Junior College in 1941 and, in 1968, York College of Pennsylvania.

RECOGNITION OF RETIRING FACULTY

SCHOOL OF THE ARTS, COMMUNICATION AND GLOBAL STUDIES

PROFESSOR LOWELL A. BRIGGS retires from the Department of Communication and Professional Writing this semester. He has been employed at York College of Pennsylvania since 1991 and has been an invaluable colleague in developing, maintaining, and promoting the Communication Program during his tenure. Professor Briggs has a Bachelor's degree from Temple University, a Master's degree from Villanova University, and a Graduate Certificate in Distance Education from Penn State University. Professor Briggs was initially hired to develop and teach our Broadcasting Program at YCP. With his additional experience in public relations, he was instrumental in the development of our Public Relations Program. His flexibility and willingness to do whatever has been necessary for the success of these programs is admirable and much appreciated. In addition to his academic expertise, Professor Briggs served on numerous campus committees, including the YCP Crisis Management Team, Faculty Benefits, and the Faculty Senate Executive Board. Outside of YCP, Professor Briggs has been an adjunct faculty at FEMA's National Emergency Training Center from 1991-2014 and actively advises organizations on crisis management, crisis communications, and emergency public information response. His disaster response deployments have taken him around the world and include 9/11, the 2004 Asian Tsunami, and the Parkland, FL, school shooting. Locally, Professor Briggs is the Finance Chair with the Emory Grove Association of Baltimore, Inc., a historical Methodist camp meeting community in Maryland. He served as the Deputy Public Information Officer for the York County Office of Emergency Management from 1995-2010 and is a past President of the Board of Directors of The ARC, York County. Professor Briggs' presence and his unwavering dedication to students will be warmly remembered for years to come. He plans to travel extensively with his wife and daughter upon retiring. "May the road rise up to meet you, may the wind be always at your back and may the sunshine warm upon your face."

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The medieval scholar wore a clerical robe so all would know his station in society. The clerical type robe was appropriate, since all students were expected to become part of the clergy. Distinctions have always been made among the academic grades. Thus, the robe of the doctor is more elaborate than that of the master and the master's is different than the undergraduate student's.

Academic regalia has always consisted of three parts—the gown, the hood, and the cap. There is considerable variation in European universities. In 1893, a system was adopted in the United States so that one could tell at a glance the university where the degree was earned, the field of study in which the degree was earned, and the level of the earned degree.

Most robes are black, although occasionally a particular university may adopt a robe of another color such as Harvard in adopting the crimson as its own. Doctoral robes are longer, fuller, and more richly trimmed with bands of velvet down the front and on the sleeves. These can be black or symbolize a field of study. The master's gown has sleeves usually cut above the elbow and the bachelor's gown is a simple pleated robe.

The cap of most American universities is usually the stiff, square black traditional mortarboard with black tassel. The doctoral cap may have a gold tassel with the tassel worn on the left. Many European universities favor the soft beret-type cap and a few American institutions use this type.

The hood is the most interesting and colorful part of the regalia. The largest hood is the doctor's while the smallest is the bachelor's hood. The color, or colors, of the hood's lining, arranged in chevrons, symbolizes the colors of the college or university which granted the degree. Thus, York College of Pennsylvania has chevrons of green and white. The velvet trim, visible at the neck, indicates the field of study in which the degree was earned. Some frequently seen hood colors and the fields of study are as follows:

Golden yellow ~ Science	Dark blue ~ Philosophy	Drab ~ Business
White ~ Arts and Letters	Lemon ~ Library Science	Apricot ~ Nursing
Light blue ~ Education	Pink ~ Music	Scarlet ~ Theology

MACE

The university mace, used during present day commencement and convocation exercises, has its roots in the 13th century when it was held by the protector of a sovereign at official meetings.

The College's official mace, carried by the Head Marshal, was created by Edward Glatfelter '48, and presented in 1961 to York Junior College President Dr. Ray Miller. It is comprised of two pieces of wood said to have come from the buildings of the oldest schools in the College's lineage: York County Academy (1787) and York Collegiate Institute (1871). The smaller black maces, carried by other Marshals during the procession, are the earliest versions of the College's academic mace, first used during the commencement exercises of 1959.

Using the College's mace to lead the procession during commencement exercises has been a tradition for over fifty years.
